ACTIVE

- We probably should have made each story smaller in scope so that we could have finished them earlier in the sprint. The fact that our stories were so large resulted in this graph where the majority of story completions occurred at the very end, even though we consistently worked the same amount throughout the sprint.
- Overall our sprint velocity matched that of our previous sprint and we do not need to adjust it for future sprints since we put in consistent work and completed tasks at a similar rate as the previous sprint.
